This was based on the dread of the coming was based on the dread of the coming of Monday, set aside by the supreme court for handing down decisions, and the expectation that the commodities clause test case would be included in the decisions. There seems to have grown up a deep-seated conviction that this case will go against the railroads. The earlier strength of the market was a reflection, to some extent from foreign markets, where the brightening of the prospect of a settlement between Austria and Servia is halled as a welcome relief. Operators who professed to have read the inaugural address of the incoming president exween Austria and Servia is hailed as a welcome relief. Operators who professed to have read the inaugural address of the incoming president expressed satisfaction with its tenor and a belief that business confidence would be fostered by its contents. There were in circulation in the financial district well-defined reports that prospects were simpling for moderation in the revision of the tariff and that the force of cichts in the steel trade might be expected to have their influence in that direction.

The Financier will say:

The bank statement of last week did not show the heavy loases in reserve that were expected to be disclosed as the result of cash changes incidental to the surrender by the banks of public deposits in response to the treasury call therefor, which matured on Wednesday, Although the estimated net losy of cush on all operations—including those between the treasury and the banks and the interbank movement—was ten milions, the actual decrease in this item was $4,-907,300, the difference between the disclosed loss and that which was estimated was accounted for by important gains to the banks from the interior, though such gains were partially offset by withdrawals of $2,700,000 gold for shipment to Argentina.

The actual reserve was reduced $2,-02,005 to $12,345,550, this was due to a contraction of $10,662,100 * deposits, resulting from the loss of cash, as above, and a decrease of $5,560,700 in louns. The state banks and trust companies in Greater New York, not reporting to the clearing house, showed a decrease of $17.3,00 in loans, which, together with the contraction in this item by the banks, reflects liquidation of speculative accounts on the stock exchange during the week. IN ABSENCE OF CABLES WHEAT GOES SOARING, PRODUCE MEN HAVE ANOTHER BUSY DAY

New High Record Reached, Then Saturday's Demand for Good Things to Eat Pleasing to Dealers.

> Saturday was a quite busy day on the produce market. Fresh vogetables sold especially well, particularly new California cabbage, green onlons, lettuce and radishes. There was a good variety of ment on the market Saturday, and there was also a good demand for it. The demand for poultry was very slight, as was also the supply, and fish, also, was not very plentiful.
>
> A feature on the market Saturday was a good supply of fresh ranch eggs. Prices on eggs now have a tendency to be on the fall, and they could be obtained Saturday at 40 cents a dozen. Some dealers offered what they advertised as strictly fresh eggs as low as 35 cents a dozen. Prices on creamery butter continued unchanged Saturday, and the housewife is still protesting at having to pay so much. marks delivery

Cotton Letter.

Cotton Letter.

James A. Pollock & Co., bankers and brokers, 6 West Second South street, furnish the following, received over their private wire yesterday afternoon:

Logan & Bryan Cotton Letter, New York—Industrial inactivity and speculative impotence is responsible for the sluggish character of the cotton market. Those who watch the security market imagine because a spirit of pessimism rules there that the whole world is despondent, and lodged long interests in cotton have suffered because broad facts and insues were forgotten. The week-ond statistics were buillish on crop movement, but bearish on mill takings, and the agitation for curtailment of 806,000 spindles of 331-3 per cent for three months is used for all and more than it is worth. Cotton, however, has first the virtue of being cheap, which makes it an attractive investment; next it has an improving statistical merit accentuated by the fact that the rapid movement early leaves but ittle vet to come. Again, the prospects for the next crop grow daily less flattering. First, because the high prices of cereals will detract from the acreage; next, because the absence of moisture in the southwest makes proper preparations impossible or largely delayed; and third, because of the menace of the boil weevil. The present visible supply of cotton is under that of two years ago and the amount to come forward much less than then. The price of cotton at the beginning of March last year was around 9.56 cents and around the first of July was 13 cents. The argument is in every way more builish now than then, although at the moment bears are very active and vigorous of voice.
